Tolstoi's "Rasputin" Production in Berlin Draws Fire From Two Emigres.

DR. RUBINSTEIN WINS POINT IN WRIT SUIT

10,000 Marks Fine for Each Performance Characterizing Him as Spy.

Berlin, Nov. 9 (A.P.) .- To men withut a country—the former kaiser and a sussian emigre—have made common cause against the opening tomorrow night of a play that is expected to be one of the season's theatrical sensations.

One of them, Dr. Dimitri Rubinstein,

Russian capitalist refugee in Paris, to day won the first definite victory in skirmishes against Erwin Piscato founder of the Communist Theater, who plans to produce Alexei Tolstoi's drama, "Rasputin." Dr. Rubinstein was granted "Rasputin." Dr. Rubinstein was granted an injunction prohibiting his portrayal in the play. The Russian argued that his social and economic position in France would be injured, as the play depicted him as a profiteer and German spy.

Kaiser Voices Protest.

Two weeks ago the exile of Doorn protested against being shown in the same play. His attorney threatened court action if the request were not granted. Piscator, however, indicated that he would ignore the former kaiser's request. The nature of the kaiser's portrayal was not made public, and it was not in the original script. It was inserted here with the author's permission upon request of Piscator.

Before the Russian revolution Rubinstein was a rich merchant in Petrograd.

In the play, "Rasputin," he is represented as an adventurer and German spy. The mimic Rubinstein, one of the guests, cries, "My millions are untold. With them I can do every-Piscator entered suit for annulment of the injunction on the grounds that Rubinstein is a historic and public character, but said he would strike out the part until the case is decided.

The suit against Piscator was brought under a law promulgated by the former kaiser in 1907, providing that a likeness of a person may not be reproduced without the consent of that person. When attorneys for the former emperor called attention to this law, Piscator expressed the opinion that it did not apply to public persons, as he considered that they must submit to stage representation as they do to newspaper caricature.

Word "Hobo" Derived From Hard Workers

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 9 (A.P.). The name "hobo" was indirectly de-cived from work, Herman Gaul, Chi-cago delegate to the International Convention of Hoboes explained today in emphasizing that the nam carried no discredit with it.

"In the old days when most of the boys were working in the agricul-tural section of the West," Gaul ex-plained, "they were referred to as just 'boys.' Then to distinguish them from other workers, the name applied to them and they became 'hoe-boys.' From that it was only ne step to 'hoboes.'

Problems of old age co extended discussion in the hoboes convention today.

Many delegates, straggling in from distant parts with complaints of train service, were more interested in the "hot dogs," biscuits and other food rustled by James Eads How, "millionaire hobo."

IN NEW YORK MARKET

Surprise Report of Increase of 164,000 Bales in Month Causes Break.

New York, Nov. 9 (A.P.) .- Cotto prices broke $5 to $8 a bale on the publication of an unexpectedly large increase in the Government crop mate, but rallied from $1 to $2 a bal from the low levels on short covering and trade buying. January contracts showed the largest decline, dropping from 21.06 cents to 19.45 cents.

The monthly Government repor showed an increase rather than the expected decrease in yield.

When the figures were publishe here was heavy liquidation by recent culative buyers and heavy selling by the South, and this pressure forced the December price, which closed at 20.83 cents a pound on Monday, to 19.57 ents. It closed at 19.84 cents, however, recovery being due to active buying by spinners who were fixing prices against previous purchases of spot cot-

The anthracite cooperative congress by John L. Lewis, president of the

The labor leader declared that the quality and service to the consumer.

He declared that to term anthractic a "luxury fuel" as he, said had been done by managers and beneficiaries was "treason." Bristol, England, Nov. 9 (A.P.).—A little army of 400 unemployed en route to London to storm the halls of parliament with oratory arrived here late this afternoon and found tea awaiting them in true English fashion.

The marchers were also greeted by pretty bob-haired Bristol girls who expressed their readiness to dance with the youngsters of the expedition.

Some of the older members, to whom the frip to London is a serious, even a tragic pligrimage, were already weary and footsore from the first day's hike of the 200-mile journey, which included a ten-minute train ride through the Severn tunnel to cut off a 60-mile walk around the Bristol Channel.

After advantages of the reservoir system had been outlined, Senator-elect Thomas (Democrat), of Oklahoma, told the committee he planned to introduce at the next Congress a bill proposing creation of a Federal emergency fund for the relief of disaster sufferers. The fund would carry a $10,000,000 appropriation and provide relief for sufferers from earthquakes, flood and storms.

While Thomas proposed that the cost the reservoirs be borne jointly by National and State Governments, Oklahoma representatives, Howard Swank, both Democrats, declared Federal Government should bear entire expense.

From the lower valley, Louisians spokesmen stressed the need of using the Atchafalaya River as a spillway, while other proposals for flood control in that section included a reservoir site above the Old River and a diversion channel through the Vermillion Bayou. L. B. Keiffer, of New Orleans, said that along with diversion channels in the upper valley, there should be adequate spillways to divert the flood waters from the lower valley States.

While the work of the committee was being lauded by Mayor William Hale Thompson, of Chicago, as he prepared to depart for home, Maj. Gen. Jadwin, chief of Army Engineers, informed President Coolidge that he would have his report on the flood situation completed by the time Congress meets.

While the fight over the inheritance tax continued at the House committee hearing, a group of Western Republican Senators met to consider a program aimed to oppose the administration's effort for its repeal.

Characterizing the tax as "one of the most just levies, as well as one of those most easily collected." Senator Borah, of Idaho, a member of the block gave notice that its repeal would be fought to the last.

Wisconsin Educator Says Virginia Honor Code Due to Girls' Absence.

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 9 (A.P.)—The first instance of shooting to prevent looting in the flooded area was reported out of West Springfield this afternoon when a national guardsman fired at a man who was seen making his way from an abandoned house.

The intruder escaped. As a result of this, extreme precautions were being taken tonight to prevent a repetition of the incident. This is the inference drawn at the University of Virginia and presented by Prof. M. V. O'Shea, of the University of Wisconsin, who has just returned from conducting an educational survey in the Eastern States. University of Virginia slummi are now conducting a campaign to keep girls from entering that school on the ground that it would lower the moral standard, Prof. O'Shea

"There is little cheating, lying or stealing at the University of Virginia. When they go to lunch they leave books, clothing and purses lie about and always find them when they return. The honor system is used. Why is it that this system has never proven successful at a coeducational school like Wisconsin?"

Action on the sale proposal and the five and ten year guarantee was again delayed at yesterday's meeting of the Shipping Board. The committee appointed some time ago to report on the question of sales of ships, announced that it was not yet ready to report. sorts of discord. The banquet of 1912 is still in mind. It was here that the chills raced up the spines of those who wanted harmony when Woodrow Wilson took a pot ahot at William Jennings Bryan. This had no ill consequences, for at Baltimore Bryan brought about the nomination of Wilson and was subsequently given a prominent place in the cabinet as a reward.

There was another time, too, when the diners sat on plus, so to speak. This was during the presidency of Andrew Jackson, whose name the traditional get-together bears. This banquet was given by the nullificationists and it was cleverly arranged that 24 speeches and toasts boosting nullification should precede the speech of Jackson himself.

The brains of the Democratic party waxed eloquent, and men surfeited with food and wine applauded their sproval until a most roseate picture of nullification should precede the speech of Jackson. He arose and said: "Our Federal Union—it must be preserved."

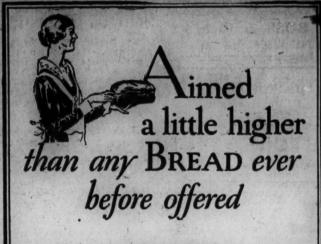

The banquet arrangers are determined that there must be nothing like that in January, or nothing as delicate as the Wilson-Bryan incident. But how to close all doors to such a possibility is another matter.

There is apprehension that discord may materialize if all of the so-called candidates are called upon to speak. This would be singling them out, it is pointed out. Yet the fixers can not be put in the attitude of selecting just which candidates are called upon to speak. This would be singling them out, it is pointed out. SEE THE GENERAL & ELECTRIC Refrigerator

WASHINGTON FOOD SHOW, NOV. 9-19

THERE is now a new development in electric refrigeration for the home. An amazingly simplified icing unit—made by General Electric. Electric refrigeration—above all things an electrical problem—has been solved electrically by the world's outstanding group of technical experts, General Electric engineers.

experts, General Electric engineers.
The General Electric Icing Unit is so simple mechanically that it is virtually trouble-proof. So efficient electrically that it consumes very little current. So precisely constructed and supremely engineered that it can hardly be heard within three feet of the refrigerator.

ator.
The entire mechanism is housed in one hermetically sealed casing mounted on top of the cabinet. You never need oil it—never touch it. It operates automatically.

Remember that the efficiency of any electric refrigerator you may purchase rests basically on its efficiency as an electrical device.

Study the refrigerator you buy from every angle. Is it roomy? Has it moving parts to get out of order? Is it quiet? Consider all these things. Study the General Electric Refrigerator and ask questions about it.

Economically, quietly, the new simplified General Electric Refrigerator gives you perfect refrigeration. Without attention (not even oiling) it keeps the temperature in the zone of health. It's really a cold storage plant in miniature that keeps foods in prime condition . . . summer and winter.

You are cordially invited to come in and see these remarkable refrigerators.

ORGY OF SPENDING CHARGED TO ELECT MACKEY AS MAYOR

$1,000,000 Used at Polls in Philadelphia, Says Citizen Party Chief.

GANG RULE PROTEST SEEN BY J. H. MOORE

Final Returns Give the Successful Candidate a 165,925 Plurality.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 9 (A.P.).—The elect William S. Vare through the elec tion of his campaign manager, Harry A. Mackey, as Mayor of Philadelphia ost approximately $1,000,000," the Citizens' party council asserted in a statement tonight. Mackey defeated J. statement tonight. Mackey defeated J. Hampton Moore, Citizens' party candidate, by nearly 168,000 plurality.

"Altogether," said the council's statement, "it is an orgy of expenditure greater in proportion to the population of the city of Philadelphia alone than was the $3,000,000 spent in the Pennsylvania campaign of 1925, which was the subject of a senatorial inquiry.

"While the Citizens party was limited in its expenditures to about $15,000 for watchers, the organization crashed the polls with as many as 10, 15 and 20 watchers and workers, some of whom not only intimidated voters, but doled out copious allowances in $10 notes and dispensed liquid refreshments lavishly.

Grave Charges Made.

"So numerous and grave are the charges coming into these headquarters that a meeting will be called Friday evening to consider a proper course of procedure."

The statement said that it had been decided to make the Citizens party a permanent organization, and that its first duty would be to comb the various wards for evidence on which to base demands for opening of ballot boxes in suspected divisions.

ction show that the triumph of the election show that the triumph of the Republican organization was as sweeping as the early returns indicated. Nothing welleft to the opposition except the few crumbs in the way of minority representation, under the law. Harry A. Mackey was swept into the mayor's office by a plurality of 165,925 over J. Hampton Moore, who ran independent under the title of citizens' party. Mr. Mackey carried with him by party. party. Mr. Mackey carried with him by almost equally large pluralities all the county offices. He will take office in

Sees Mighty Protest.

"A mighty protest against gang rule," was the way Mr. Moore described the vote cast for him yesterday.
"It was the vote of free uncontrolled citizens in a city where the machine has heretofore been regarded as impregnable. Even if it was not as large as the citizens' party had a right to pregnable. Even if it was not as large as the citizens' party had a right to expect, it constitutes a mighty protest against gang rule here in Philadelphia, "The organization spent money in this campaign as recklessly as it was spent in the senatorial campaign, and intimidation and illegal assistance were resorted to."

While unsuccessful for mayor or other county officers, the Citizens' Party elected seven of its candidates for minority magistrates. Among them was Mrs. Violet Fahnestock, twice appointed magistrate by Gov. Pinchot to fill vacancies. After he first appointment she was defeated for nomination by the Republicans, and was again named by Mr. Pinchot when

Will Rogers Sees Victory of Smith As Force of Habit

Special to The Washington Post.

Santa Fe, N. Mex., Nov. 9.—News of the day about Tuesday's elections: Smith carried New York through force of habit. Vare carried Philadelphia through something. It may not have been just habit alone.

Cleveland, Ohio, admitted they needed a mayor and New Mexico needed a mayor and New Mexico here voted that if any man couldn't get it in two years in this State there was no use giving h'm four. Kentucky decided it was all right for the State to have some of the money bet on horse races; that the profit should not all go to book-makers.

KENTUCKY AND OHIO HELD AIDING SMITH

did not think it fair, or who believed Republicans here do not by any presidential candidate could carry Ohio. in that State as a matter of fact. They point to the religious prejudice shown in Ohio in 1914, when an anti-Catholic wave defeated Hogan and started Wardency, after Senator Burton had believed the chances of a Republican winning were so slim that he declined to Smith Men Claim Ohio.

But the fact remains that the Antibing in Ohio, and the further fact is bvious that the Ohio voters can not be relied on, as in the past, to vote for whatever is labeled the "dry" ticket.

yesterday the lack of any organization or leadership. They have lacked both since the announcement by William Gibbs McAdoo that he would not be a candidate. There is no outstanding dry candidate at the present moment against Smith for the Democratic nomination, and no organization inside the party working against Smith which is capable of bringing all the anti-Smith groups into a cohesive whole.

The result in Kentucky is second in importance, so far as effect on Smith's chances for the nomination are concerned, only to Ohio, and is regarded here as far more effective than the governor's new demonstration of his continued strength in the Empire State.

Every calculation with electoral votes to demonstrate that Smith has or has not a chance to be elected has included to demonstrate that Smith has or has not a chance to be elected has included much speculation about Kentucky. With Tennessee and Oklahoma it has been held up as the type of border State that is extremely dry and extremely liberal. The election of Senator Barkley over Senator Ernst in 1926 was taken as a demonstration of this.

Liberals Win in Kentucky.

But former governor and former Sen-ator J. C. W. Beckham, running for governor on a ticket which opposed continuance of the pari-mutuel betting system at the race tracks, has been desystem at the race tracks, has been de-cisively beaten by Flem D. Sampson, running as a Republican on a "liberal" platform. Sampson was nothing like as well known as Beckham, so much importance is attached here to the idea that Kentucky is not so "narrow" troit, where the wet candidate for mayor was defeated by a close margin, was not of much comfort to the drys, for it has been realized here for some time that the wet candidate was carrying a considerable load in addition to his wetness, and would not poil anything like the full wet strength.

The situation in Kentucky is particularly pleasing to Smith leaders here because they think, with the reform movement beaten, it will give them a much better chance to win a Smith delegation. It was recalled today that there were Smith votes in the Kentucky delegation at Madison Square Garden, but, being in the minority, they were bound by the unit rule.

Beckham as Hero Dethroned.

Beckham as Hero Dethroned.

Garden, Sutz, being in the minority, they were bound by the unit rule.

Beckham as Hero Dethroned.

There had been some suggestion, also, that if Beckham won he might become the hero of the anti-Smith drive at the Democratic convention. With Beckham knocked down, the anti-Smith men in Kentucky, it was said here yesterday, will get behind Senator Barkley, who is an extreme dry. Certainly, however, the encouragement, today is with the Smith forces.

The strengthening of the Smith movement as a result of the elections had a very obvious effect also on Republican convention politics. Talk was revived today of the necessity of nominating some one who could carry New York against Smith, and Hughes was held up as the best available man for this purpose.

Westerners became all the more vigorous in their assertion that if the result in New York proves anything it proves that New York might as well be conceded, and the real fight be made where victory would be much easier—in the West. The result in Ohio, however, proved quite a jar to this contention, for if by any possibility Smith should carry Ohio as well as New York and New Jersey, and should hold the solid South with the border States, he would need very little more to win.

Senator Borah, who has been so vigorous in his insistence that the Republicans must have a strong dry enforcement plank in their platforn, admitted yesterday without hesitation that the results of the elections added to the probability of Smith's nomination by the Democrats. Other Republicans my delegation to the next Democration of International to ignore him, Senators Edwards, of New Jersey, in commenting last night on the general results of Tuesday's balloting, said 'that they were a "heality reaction to straight-jacket methods employed by intolerant cliques and cabals." He pointed to the success of liberal ideas in Ohio and Kentucky as being particular indications that the public is returning to its former state of mind.

Missourian Will Seek Action Early in Approaching Congress Session.

Philadelphia, Nov. 9 (A.P.).—The Reed Senate special committee investi-gating last year's senatorial primary States, failed again to get its hands on the Pennsylvania ballot boxes today when the United States Circuit Court of Appeals decided that the status of Senate committees is one for Senate itself to decide and not the courts. Thus the appellate court affirmed the action of Judge J. Whitaker Thompson, of the United States District Coure, who held that the status of Senate committees was legislative and not a judicial question.

committees was legislative and not a judicial question.

The decision was rendered in the case of the special committee, of which Senator Reed, of Missouri, is chairman. The committee was refused the ballot boxes in Delaware County in the senatorial election contest between William B. Vare, Republican, and William B. Wilson, in contesting Vare's right to the seat on allegations of fraud.

County Refused Ballots.

County Refused Ballots.

The Delaware County authorities replies has been an empty victory for the ground that the Reed committee was largely nonexistent, and, therefore, without authority. When the case was taken to the Federal District Court, Judge Thompson ruled the courthad no jurisdiction in the matter.

Since the case was taken into court an agreement was reached by Vare and Wilson by which all the ballots in Pennsylvania except those of Fhiladelphia and Allegheny counties were impounded to await the pleasure of the United States Senate itself. The ballots in Allegheny County, which in-the campaign funds investigating committee shall continue will be sought by mator Reed (Democrat), Missouri, it's airman, early in the next session and

Speaking of the election, the statement declares that "it means that the people of Philadelphia are not in sympathy with the attempt to deprive William S. As the fairness of Tuceday's election can not and will not be disputed, it should end the irresponsible attacks upon the fairness of the senatorial election.

"Those of us who have fought to maintain Mr. Vare's clear rights to his seat in the Senate, regard Tuceday's results as an expression of the real sentiment of Philadelphia Republicans. Whether they voted in the senatorial VOTE IS YET INCOMPLETE

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 9 (A.P.) .- That

Senator Reed (Democrat), Missouri, it's chairman, early in the next session and meanwhile little concern appears to be felt by committee members over the decision of the Pennsylvania courts ruling the committee's status must be fixed by the Senate.

Senator King (Democrat), Utah, one of the members of the committee, who was here yesterday, said the court's decision meant little, because "the ends sought by the court action have already been attained." He referred to the impounding of the Pennsylvania ballots in the contest between Senator-elect Vare and William B. Wilson, Vare's Democratic opponent at the polls.

GOV. SMITH'S GREAT TRIUMPH.

Above all else the returns from the elections in New York State demonstrate that Gov. "Al" Smith is not only the leader of his party, but the leader of the State in the matter of legislative policies.

Of the nine constitutional amendments that were submitted to the voters for indorsement or rejection, but one appears to have been rejected. That one, known as amendment No. 6, which proposed that the term of the governor should be four years, and that the gubernatorial elections should be held in "presidential" years, would undoubtedly have received the support of the people of the State but for the vigorous opposition of Gov. Smith. He onposed the change and stumped the State in opposition to the Republican plan. That his victory in the defeat of the amendment demonstrates the personal popularity of the man is more clearly shown by the fact that throughout the State, and especially in Buffalo and Rochester, the Republican ticket was successful.

The newly elected assembly will have a Republican majority of 28, which is 5 more than the party strength in the last assembly. The factional fight in Buffalo, which has kept the Democratic party widely split during the past year, was largely responsible for this gain. But while this factional controversy in the western end of the State grows more bitter each day, and while it threatens to result in the loss of the seat in Congress now occupied by a Democrat from Erie, the strength of Gov. Smith in that section shows no signs of waning.

Gov. Smith will have a solid delegation from his own State in the next Democratic convention, and his hold upon the voters, as demonstrated by the manner in which the State has indorsed his attitude in the matter of the constitutional amendment, warrants the prediction that if he should be nominated for President the national battleground will be New York State. Gov. Smith is stronger than his party, and the Republicans of the United States are now wondering if he is not stronger than their party, too.

THE REED COMMITTEE.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled that only the Senate may give life to any of its committees. he Reed "slush" fund" committee, therefore, has died two deaths. It failed during the closing days of the last Congress to obtain the authority of the Senate to continue its investigations, and its appeal to the courts has been in vain.

The "slush fund" committee has delayed any steps being taken looking to the settlement of the contest launched by William B. Wilson, defeated Democratic candidate, against William S. Vare, who was elected senator from Pennsylvania. It would have been possible at any time, in fact, the offer was made last winter, to turn the ballots over to the Senate committee on privileges and elections. If that had been done, the recount could have been held while Congress was in recess. By this time the merits of the contest could have been established and a report made ready for the Senate.

Instead, some of the ballots are in the possession of the Reed committee. The remainder are in the keeping of the court in Pennsylva Smaller counties in the State have been put to the expense of buying new election paraphernalia, for which the United States Government will be asked eventually to pay. Many valuable months have been lost, and neither the aims of the Reed committee nor the wishes of the people of Pennsylvania have been advanced one step. They elected somebody to the Senate, but have yet to be told whether they elected Vare or Wilson.

OVERPRODUCTION OF OIL.

There has been difference of opinion in the oil industry as to the wisdom of governmental action to control overproduction. Some of the large producers have hesitated to seek such aid. A decision, nevertheless, has been reached, looking to the formation of a committee composed of representatives of the Government the public and the oil industry, to draft legislation designed to keep oil in the ground. If further evidence of the necessity of such action had been needed, the industry itself has nov supplied it.

Figures made public by the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey reveal that there has been a tremendous financial loss during the period of overproduction. According to this authority, the loss each day during October of this year was $2,105,409, as compared with prices received the year before. At this rate the difference in receipts over a period of a year would be $768,000,000. Nor has this money from its reserve. In order to replace been the only point where a shrinkage in this money and prepare for future emergencies values has taken place. During the period of reckless production, and following the con-sequent drop in wholesale prices, the depreciation of values of oil securities amounted to more than $1,000,000.000.

The public generally has benefited by the reduction in the price of petroleum products. A portion of the public has lost heavily because of the shrinkage in security values. In each instance the oil producers have been the sufferers. Not only the national interest, but their private business demands that they cooperate in regulating the flow of petroleum from the ground.

TUESDAY'S ELECTIONS.

The serious manner in which the public still takes its local issues was clearly stamped in Tuesday's elections. There was nothing indecisive about the temper of the electorate in any one of the contests. The voters showed no compunction in crossing party lines or going against the established order of things in registering their will. New York, which went Republican in the assembly, stood by Gov. Smith in his opposition to one of nine constitutional amendments.

Kentucky, which had been reclaimed for the Democrats last year by the victory of Senator Barkley, went back into the Republican column by electing Judge Flem D. Sampson governor on a platform supporting parl-mutuel betting. Ohio refused for once to hear the word of command issued by the Antisaloon League, and Detroit all but elected a mayor whose platform promised utter disregard of the eighteenth amendment. Philadelphia alone remained in the path of regularity and rejected the independent candidacy of J. Hampton Moore by a greater margin than when he was defeated in the Republican primary.

The common factor in the majority of these elections was an effort to impose upon the people legislation with which they were not in sympathy. The opponents of race-track betting in Kentucky were as much out of tune with actual sentiment as the dry leaders of Ohio, who had set out to circumvent the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States. Under such circumstances party lines meant nothing, and organization discipline less. The citizen still has in the ballot box, when he takes the trouble to exercise the right, means for righting wrongs and preventing the enactment of laws which he does not favor.

DEMOCRATS AND THE TAX CUT.

Representative Garner, minority leader of the ways and means committee, has outlined the program of tax reduction which he proposes shall be that of the minority in the House. Mr. Garner figures that there will be a surplus in revenues by the close of the present fiscal year sufficient to warrant the reduction of income taxes to the extent of $315,-000,000. He would also cut off all taxes on automobiles, thereby adding $65,000,000 to the reduction account. These, with the repeal of admission taxes, estimated at $18,000,000, taxes on club dues $10,000,000 more, and stamp taxes with another $3,000,000, make a total of $411,000,000, which Mr. Garner thinks is just about the right amount to be restored to the pockets of the taxpayers.

Secretary Mellon, who is supposed to know something of the fiscal affairs of the country. thinks that the point of safety will be overshot if the total cut exceeds $225,000,000. There still might be some chance for the more generous proposal of Mr. Garner if he could line-up his fellow Democrats and secure from them an ironclad agreement to confine their demands upon the Treasury within reasonable limits. But already it is evident that this is an impossibility. Theoretically the minority party desires to relieve the taxpayer from most of his burdens, but practically appropriations for home use are essential to political success. Therefore any attempt to secure an agreement to abstain from demanding money from the public funds for local improvements is defeated in advance.

Here, for instance, is Senator Hawes with a plan for governmental flood control, with incidental improvement of the navigation of the Mississippi and its tributaries. Senator Hawes program provides for the total expenditure of $1,000,000,000 in the next ten years in harnessing the big river and its feeders. He would have $100,000,000 made available for the work in each year of the ten, and there is reason to believe that the Missouri senator will find sufficient support to put his plan over, provided. of course, that it does not conflict with the plans now being perfected by the Army engineers. That there will be very large appropriations for the work of controlling the Mississippi is not to be doubted. That such appropriations will reduce the surplus correspondingly is equally certain. If the full amount suggested by Senator Hawes is made available, Mr. Garner's comprehensive proposals must be curtailed. Therefore, it would seem advisable for the minority leader to consult his party colleagues before sounding the tocsin in his war against the financial program of the majority.

RED CROSS-IT ACTS FOR ALL.

The annual appeal of the Red Cross to the Nation begins today. The deeds of the organization speak louder than any words of the necessity and urgency of its work. Down through the Mississippi Valley, Red Cross workers are still on hand doing what they can to rehabilitate the stricken victims of last spring's flood. Up in New England the Red Cross has just begun a task which will take months to complete. Sandwiched in between are hundreds of instances where the Red Cross took hold, saved life, and restored the confidence of men in the sympathy of their fellow creatures.

These are the spectacular features of Red Cross work. They are performed under the eyes of the Nation. They form the popular conception of what the Red Cross is and does There is, however, more to the Red Cross than this. The spreau of sanitation, hygiene and preventive medicine are still more far-reaching functions of the organization. The ministration of creature comforts to members of the military establishment, both in health and sickness, engages the time of thousands of Red Cross women. These are the everyday tasks of the Red Cross, which are pure drudgery, carried on faithfully throughout the year. The big demands upon the Red Cross this year have not been met entirely by public subscription. The financial burden is so heavy that the Red Cross has been forced to take the Red Cross this year has set 5,000,000 members as its goal during the roll call. It means getting a comparatively small sum from a great many individuals. It means that the Nation hard to reach the required number of pe individually. It is a big task, but so is the

The Red Cross represents the willingness of the Nation to respond in time of distress to the pleas of the ill and injured. It is a measure of he heart of the people. The Red Cross is the national charity. It asks nothing for itself. It acts when the value of each dollar in rescue work is magnified a hundred times in point of service. Response to its roll call should not only be an obligation, but a privilege.

OUIT RENTS.

Pope refers with scorn to the poet who renders to his patron

His quit rent ode, his peppercorn of praise and many persons have been puzzled as to the meaning. A quit rent was a very tangible entity in ancient law. In some few cases it was satisfied by the handing over of a thing so trifling as a peppercorn. Often, however, something more valuable and practical was stipulated for. A recent ceremony—an annual one, by the way—at the London law courts illustrates not only the forms which quit rents sometimes assume but also the tenacity of cus-

On the occasion alluded to, the official known as the King's Remembrancer attended, in full bottomed wig and silk gown, to receive two quit rent services from the corporation of the City of London. One was rendered by the tenants and occupiers of a piece of waste land knowns as "the Moors," in Shropshire, and the other by the tenants and occupiers of a tenement called "the Forge" in the parish of St. Clement Danes in London. The moor in question dates back as far as Domesday Book. The rent for it at one time was two knives, but about the period of Wat Tyler it fell into the possession of the London municipality, and a hatchet, a billbook and two faggots were substituted for the knives. The original grant of the Forge was made in 1235 to a farrier, who attended to the horses employed in the adjacent tilting field of the Knights Templars. His quit rent was six horseshoes and 61 nails. The property also, with its obligation, subsequently passed to the municipality.

The hatchet, the billbook, the faggots, the horseshoes and the nails were all duly paid over the other day by a representative of the corporation of London to the representative of the king. What becomes of these articles, or to what use the king puts them, is not apparent. The function they fulfill in changing hands is to show and hold title, as they have done for more than 700 years, and that service they render just as effectually as coin of the realm and receipted bills.

ANTHRACITE TRIES TO COME BACK.

It is a far cry from the hard coal conference at Mount Carmel, Pa., before which Secretary Hoover spoke yesterday, to the time when virtually all the news that ever emanated from the hard coal region was of high prices and threatened strikes. Producers, miners and representatives of the public are meeting now in Pennsylvania to discuss permanent peace within the industry and methods of stimulating the consumption of hard coal. The assembling of the divergent groups at the same time and with the same goal is in strange contrast to the situation that obtained a few years ago.

The common interest that brings them together is the situation resulting from depression in the hard coal industry. The fuel upon which a part of the Nation was once dependent now finds itself in a strictly competitive market. High prices, cessation of production and the development of other means of heating have done what other agencies could not do. A public which suffered for long has learned to use and prefer the substitutes. Anthracite is no longer a necessity. The conference, it is said, will avoid controversial topics in an effort, to arrive at an agreement. This means, presumably, that no effort will be made to suggest a change in the wage scale within the industry. Other industries have adjusted themselves to change ing conditions and entered the buyers' market. The anthracite industry closed its eves to the disappearance of the sellers' market. It refused to meet competition. The period of awakening has arrived. A way may yet be found to get the hard coal industry on its feet, but its rivals have a long lead.

MARCHING ON LONDON.

The "Coxey's army" of unemployed Welsh miners that is on the march from Cardiff to London to present a "petition in boots" for the purpose of calling attention to the deplorable condition of the men of the mining districts is said to have a decided Communistic aroma. But the originators of the movement have staged a show that will doubtless anneal to their fellow workers who have a knowledge of English history, even though the movement may be barren in legislative results. The line of march will bring the hosts across the Thames at the field of Runnymede, where the English barons in 1215 wrested the Magna Charta from King John.

While the suspicion is widespread that the real object of the invasion of the Cambrians upon the British metropolis is the recruiting of the Communistic party, the miners will endeavor to secure an interview with Prime Minister Baldwin, in an attempt through him to bring to the attention of Parliament "the chronic destitution" existing among the Welsh

When first the movement was proposed there was a disposition among trades unionists in London to welcome the marchers and to formally receive them. Now, however, the fear that the ulterior purpose is to advance the cause of the Communists has resulted in a decision to wait until the Miners Federation shall have inquired into the situation.

It is just 60 years since a similar "trek" of British workmen was made toward London. Then it was that the cotton spinners of Laneashire, suffering from the depression that followed the ending of the American Civil War, marched in a vast army, chanting a dirge which announced, "We're all the way from Lancashire and got no work to do," and it was a long time after the march ended before those spinners "returned to normalcy."

To the Editor of The Post-Sir: "Big Bill" Thompson has come here all the way from Chicago with a head full knowledge as to how the question of flood control can be handled. It may he recalled that this same Big Bill is sued a proclamation ordering the gunmen, the bandits and bootleggers to bid a long and lasting farewell to the Windy City, giving them 90 days in which to vacate. It was a hungry army. It was sick, and there were few medical sunplies. It's feet were tied in rags, for it had no shoes. It was weak and broken in spirit, for it was inadequately clothed.

As an Army of Freedom it did not have unanimous support, for there were Americans who did not desire freedom. But the millions who did desire freedom had meat and clothing and money in abundance. They had no experience of the patriotic self-denial practiced by England, for example, in the last war.

It was not the poverty of the people that kept the army in want. It

Yet something very similar is happening. In tumble-down barracks built in haste during the war, and no whit better than humane farmers provide for their livestock, American soldiers will spend this winter as they spent the last and the one before it. They will have blankets and clothing in abundance, but they will have little comfort.

They will be hungry, also. Government provides 40 cents a day to feed each man, and 40 cents will buy a great quantity of bread or an enormous helping of beans or a generous slice of steak; but it will not buy three generous meals. The soldiers will be hungry, except on pay day, when they will patronize public restaurants. The War Department is not trying to toughen the soldiers by means of hardship. It does its best with what it has. It has too little because Congress is indifferent to its needs. Congress is indifferent to its needs because soldiers do not vote and citizens who do vote are indifferent. Valley Forge was more than a winter camp. It was a typical symptom

Studebaker "Commander" Covers 1814.96 Miles In 24 Hours

A Studebaker stock "Commander" whirled around the Atlantic City Speedway on October 7th at an average speed of 75.62 miles for 24 hours.

AMOCO-GAS and AMOCO Motor Oil were used exchisively-and in this telegram from Harry Hartz, driver of the record-breaking "Commander," you'll see that he gives full credit to the part AMOCO Products played in this astounding run. In the course of the 24-hour grind a new record for the 1000-mile distance was also established.

And so splendidly did this Studebaker perform at the end of the record-breaking journey, that it was sent out for an add ditional 15-mile high-speed test-and was clocked for that distance at an average of 82 miles per hour!

Studebaker "Dictator" Breaks All Records For Its Price Class

HARRY HARTZ.

Right after the Studebaker "Commander" had won the speed supremacy for strictly stock cars, a Studebaker "Dictator" was sent over the same track for a 24-hour test.

And a "Dictator" closed model-a strictly stock Studebaker-covered 1480 miles in 24 hours-averaging over 61 miles per hour! This is a record for cars listing at under $1400-an achievement worthy of a place alongside that of the higher priced "Commander" model.

And once again, AMOCO Products-AMOCO-GAS and AMOCO Motor Oil-were used by the Studebaker factory representative.

Two Great Records for Studebaker and for AMOCO Products!

RECORDS FOR CARS LISTING UNDER FOURTEEN HUNDRED DOLLARS. AMOCO GAS AND AMOCO MOTOR OILS WERE USED EXCLUSIVELY ON THIS TEST WITH ENTIRE SATISFACTION. YOUR SERVICE AND COOPERATION IN THESE TESTS ARE MORE THAN APPRECIATED.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

PELLAGRA—WHAT IT IS;
HOW TO CURE IT.

7 ITHIN recent months we have received a moderate number of letters asking what pellagra is and what the symptoms are.
This disears first began to attract public notice in this country about twenty years ago. Within five years thereafter the people generally knew what it was, and were able to guess the meaning of its symptoms. Then ensued a veried of panic, during which, in certain areas, the people were hysterically afraid, al. the men who sold cures for pellagra made their killings.

In pellagra there is no such history, it comes on parts of the body that have not been exposed or in the wintertime when the sun does not burn, or in summer after the skin has been pigmented so that eruption looks more like sumburn than anything else at the beginning, it does not pass away in a week as sunburn does, and it presently "looks different from sumb: n. Other symptoms are: Sore tongue, scalded feeling in the mouth, lack of suppletting the sumburn than sometimes present.

The outstanding method of preventing pellagra is the habitual eating of plenty of proper foods. The only cure is the diet cure. "I met him that Sunday—the day before you were married, and we went out together," she said, dischessly." Then we went to a show Monday night and Tuesday night we went riding. "Wednesday —" her voice faltered." "Wednesday night we got married. We didn't tell anybody."

"Well?" demanded Mrs. Potter as the blonde girl paused.

"I had an awful case on him—he's a dandy talker." She looked at them deflantly. "He's a dandy fellow, too. He's just had bad luck." She went to one of Molly's new chairs and sank upon it, folding and refolding a pfait of her skirt as she continued. "I guess it was my fault. I had told him my folks were rich. It was just a bluff." Her lips quivered. "He didn't want me to know he was poor so he said he was rich, too."

Brownell had not taken his hands from his pockets, and was standing with his eyes on the girl, his gaze full of lively sympathy. Molly was on the couch, her elbows on her knees, looking at the rug. Mrs. Potter strode up and down the room, her hands behind her, and producing a loud sniff from time to time as Mary came to new point in her recital.

His attention turned to Mary Holmquist. She had gathered herself from the floor and was standing timidly in a corner, watching him as he came toward her.

With a little smile he took her by the hand, and le" her to a chair. "Now tell me about it," he said, sitting down. She repeated her story. The other bride and Brownell listened from the couch.

Names and situations in this story are fectitious.

Presty Mary Holmquist comes to the apartment of Bob and Molly Brownell, who are newly married and are omes acquaintances of Mary, and tells them that she needs 4500 desperately—she, toe, has just been married. Mary is a blonde, and bears the nickname of "illtig Swedie." Mrs. Potter, with whom Mrs. Brownell reomed before her marriage, is visiting the apartment and getting dinner.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXVI.

MOLLY clasped her hands, her gray eyes wide. "Married!" she choed.

"Married!" said Mrs. Potter. "I see! So that's what's the trouble." She turned to Brownell. "Who is this girl, anyhow?"

"Oh, I'm so sorry." Molly said. "Mrs.
Potter, this is my friend Miss Holmquist. She's one of the girls down at the office."

Neither little Swedie nor the older woman paid the slightest heed to this introduction, the blonde because she was occupied with a critical inspection of Mary, from the fair, drooping head to the neatly shod feet.

"Married!" Mrs. Potter said again.

"Where is your husband now?" Mr. Frazier asked when the frightened girl had finished.

"He's—he's hiding," she said.

"You know where he is?" An upward reflection in his tone made the words into a question.

"Yes."

"How do you know he's likely to be arrested?"

"He told me." She spoke so faintly that the others barely heard her.

"I see." He crooked his fingers over his mouth, and pondered for half a minute. "I see," he said again. "You don't expect to see him tonight, I suppose?"

"Who is he?" Molly wanted to know.
"Is it the fellow with the little mustache?"

Mary got to her feet and went to the bathroom, where they could see her through the open door, splashing cold water on her face. Somewhat restored she stood in the doorway and began her story.

"I met him that Sunday—the day before you were married, and we went of the content of the rug."

"Why are you going then?" asked Brownell. "Not unless I take him the money. He said it would be too dangerous."
"I thought so." He arose and took his hat, "Bring him to my office an hour ahead of starting time tomorrow—we'll make it early so the folks in the office won't see him. Mrs. Brownell," he added to Molly. "I wish you'd be there, too. If you can." Nodding pleasantly he bade them good-night, and went out the door.

In yesterday's paper a college freshman asked five searching questions on the extent to which he should lindinge in extra curricula activities, Today's contribution covers the rest of his questions.

"6. In ise I am pledged to a fraterity, how much time should I devote to it?"

The importance of fraternities in academic life is as frequently overestimated by incoming freshmen as it is misjudged and condemned by persons who have never attended a university. It is not true that fraternity houses are dens of iniquity, as some worthly people hav been led to believe. There is probably less surreptitious induigence in these vices in fraternity longes than in other dormitories and lodging house. And the fraternity offers congenial compani-raship, social advantages than in other dormitories and lodging house. And the fraternity offers congenial compani-raship, social advantages and training in the social graces to a degree which seldom falls to the lot of the student in a private dormitory or lodging house.

On the other hand, the danger of becoming an idler and loafer is more imminent in a fraternity than elsewhore just because of the congeniality and comradeship which prevalis and of the temptation which constantly presents itself to a group of "good fel-" le student in a private dormitory or lodging house.

On the other hand, the danger of becoming an idler and loafer is more imminent in a fraternity than elseming an idler and loafer is more imminent in a fraternity than elseming an idler and loafer is more imminent in a fraternity than elseming and of the temptation which constantly and comradeship which prevails and of the temptation which constantly presents itself to a group of "good fellows" to seek amusement and shirk their work. Again, it's a question of how much you can dilute the strong drink of study with the water of social life.

"7. Just what is your opinior of tryling out a girl to see how far she will go in petting and necking?"

It is a solled and vulgar trick but seems to be the nature of the protoplasm called Man. That's why I am aliways urging mothers to put a little knowledge and a lot of gumption into the heads of their daughters so as to make the fight less one-sided. Boys pet, pursue, persecute, prevaricate—girls must learn to combat, counsel, control. The word?

We can safely put the entire class of the college students who do not take their studies seriously into two groups.

WHO SITS IN THE PARLOR?

MY Dear Miss Singleton: Will you write about this in your column for me? Who should sit in the parlor—me, or my mother and father?
I mean, when I have a boy friend come to see me on a Sunday or in the evening. I go out mostly, but when it rains
I don't like to ask my beaux into the kitchen—they've got some style to them.
But I can't make my mother and father see things my way. What do you think?

B. M.
I think it's bard on young neonle.

see things my way. What do you think?

I think it's hard on young people, just growing up, to be constantly where their artless or artful conversation is overheard. It think it is harder on older people to give up their comfort for chattering youth. I think any young man with real "style to him" would rather sit in the kitchen than turn his host and hostess (for that's what your parents are to him, remember) out of their places. I think you should speak of them first, by the way, in your letter. The sentence should read, "Who should sit in the parlor, my father and ter. The sentence should read, "Who should sit in the parlor, my father and mother, or I?"

Well, now, you want to know what to do. If your parents, as is natural enough, consider their rights before your wishes, you must realize that this is proper. In no smart society do parents turn themselves out of their comfortable rooms for their daughters, in large houses, may have sitting rooms of their own where they can see their young friends, boys or girls, but they would not dream of incommoding their fathers and mothers. In your case, I should make a virtue of necessity and force the young men to think it is a privilege to be allowed in the kitchen Put it that you are going to make fudge, or that you are estudying household economy, and like to have a large table to work at. Make the kitchen as pretty as possible. Don't let your-self seahamed of it. If you don't, be sure they won't. Take the thing naturally and amuse yourself, and them, making the best of it. There's nothing to mind about it, really, but, if you think there is, rise above it. The young men will respect you.

MODISH MITZI.

It Does Seem Like Winter.

Do notice that Mitzi's coat has a little cape edged with a wide band of fur—giving her wrap a Victorian sort of bodice effect. Mitzi admired the sweater in the window, but she also remembered all those expensive Paris frocks Dora just sent her and she is turning firmly away in spite of the striking color combination and memogram.

It's starting to snow a little and Mitzi notices more imported sweaters. The one to the left is knit to give the effect of wide revers and deep cuffs. Again, a modern use of contrasting color—and how beautifully these sweaters fit and drape, not just sticking tight to one's figure, but really fitted! The other has a lighting

Three shades of green in this sweater—and so artfully combined. It's snowing harder and harder. After all, Mitzi thinks, those French Mitzi is too thrifty for that. It's plainly a duty, even though it may also be a pleasure, for Mitzi to buy at least one of these sweaters. Mitzi turns firmly to enter the shop and through these falling snowflakes you can see that she is wearing a velvet turban fitted closely to her head and tied in a knot over one of her ears.

"Appreciation" to Our Old Friends Is Bringing Many New Ones!

We have been surprised to find women in our store this week attracted by our "Appreciation Week" publicity, who have told us they were never in our store before. We thought everyone in Washington knew Jelleff's! But then, they, too, have been surprised—they never realized, they have said—what a big fine store this is—what wonderful stocks we have.

We thank you-one and all!

The street was looking forward to a good quarterly statement from Chrysler Motors either tomorrow or on Friday This led to good absorption of such offerings as appeared when the market furned heavy in the afternoon. Packard Motor was the strongest feature of the group, advancing briskly to the highest levels in several years under the impetus of large-scale buying.

Despite the fact that the stock had been severely depressed of late, due to rumors of an unfavorable nature regarding the outlook for its dividend, American Sugar was not particularly responsive to the action of the board in ordering the regular quarterly payment.

What's Behind Your Stock?

Illinois Central Railroad.

Illinois Central Railroad is the leading North and South trunk line of the United States and, furthermore, is one the few great systems which has, never passed through a reorganization since its incorporation. This incorporation. This incorporation occurred about 75 years ago. The Illinois Central system serves the fertile agricultural territory of the Mississippi Valley and the coal-mining sections of southern Illinois. The main line runs from Chicago to New Orleans and there are important branches to Birmingham, Louisville, Indianapolis, Omaha and other-cities. In all, about 4,875 miles of first main track are operated. Gross operating revenues, net operating revenues and net income of this road have been steadily expanding during recent years, with the exception that net operating income fell on slightly in 1926. Per share earnings on the common stock, however, have been declining since 1922, due to increases in crammon stock capitalization, Per share earnings on the common stock amounted to approximately $12.10 in 1926, as compared with a figure of $12.65 reported for 1925 and one of $12.41 reported in 1924. It is estimated that 1927 earnings will be somewhat below the 1926 returns, perhaps about $10.75 per share.

With the exception of the years 1858 and 1859, dividends have been paid on the common stock at various rates since the company was organized. Since 1860 the payments have never been less than 4 per cent.

By WALTER ECKERSALL.

HICAGO, Nov. 9.—The undefeated Notre Dame Football Team, which was held to a tie score by Minnesota last Saturday, leaves tomorrow for the East, where it will engage the Army in one of the most interesting and colorful intersectional struggles of the year in the Yankee Stadium of New York City on Saturday afternoon. It will be the fourteenth meeting of these powerful elevens, and Notre Dame has a decided advantage in the matter of victories. The Western eleven has won nine games, the Army has been victorious in three, while the battle of 1922 resulted in a scoreless tie. No

Saturday's game is looked upon as one of the most important on the schedule of both elevens. Although Yale and Princeton will-clash at New Haven on the week-end, this game will not detract from the New York battle, which is eagerly awaited by Eastern football fans, who know they will see a football game when these two powerful elevens swing into action.

Both elevens have been put to the test. The Army was defeated by Yale, 10 to 6, and Notre Dame held to a 7-to-7 the by Minnesota. Since its setback by Old Ell, the Cadets have been improving and should be at the top of their game on Saturday. Notre Dame played good football against the Gophers, and the team will play just as aggressively against the future generals.

Coach Biff Jones, of the Army, will employ a hard-running attack turned loose from a back field shift and be-hind an unbalanced line. Capt. Wilson, Cagle and Murrell will do most of the Cagie and aureit will do most of the ball carrying. Murrell, who is a West-ern product, is a hard line crasher and throws passes accurately. He is also a splendid blocker and should make some of the runs of Cagle and Wilson Possible.

The Army should be varied nicely. Coach Jones has so much material that replacements will be made frequently, depending upon the location of the ball. The Army coach will not overlook any opportunity to score. Specialists will be rushed into the battle at any time to execut some play or kick, while substitutes may be sent into the fray for the purpose of bringing information from the bench.

Defensively, the Army should be trong unless Notre Dame gets away ith its air attack and confuses the

This appears unlikely as the Army line appears strong enough to hold its own without the ald of the secondary defensive players. If these secondary players are called upon to stop hotore Dame's line plunging and end running then forward passes should be executed successfully.

Notre Dame leaves for the East in ood condition. Some of the players till carry bruises of the Minnesota attile but these will be forgotten when Notre Dame leaves for the East in good condition. Some of the players still carry bruises of the Minnesota battle, but these will be forgotten when the teams trot on the field on Saturday. Coach Cockne will probably start his so-called shock troops and depend upon the regulars to score as the game advances. Coach Jones may elect to do the same thing. The Army football teacher did this against the Navy a year ago and he may decide to do the same thing against Notre Dame.

However, there is little to choose between the Notre Dame first and second tween the Notre Dame first and second teams. Collins, Wynne and Dew are CONTINUED ON PAGE 17. COLUMN 1

Princeton Would Be Pegler Has Something Glad to See Eli Star

Bruce Caldwell, Yale football star, declared ineligible for further play because of past affiliation with a his home here said he had received a telephone message from Coach "Tad" Jones, of Yale, ordering with the squad.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 9 (A.P.).— Suggesting that an exception un-der the transfer rule be made in the case of Bruce Caldwell, Yale half back, just declared ineligible, the Princeton faculty committee on ath-letics today notified Yale athletic au-thorities it would receive "with great placesure" any action which would per-nit the Eli star to play against Prince-ton in this Saturday's game at New Haven.

At the same time, President John Grier Hibben, of Princeton wired At the same time, President John Grier Hibben, of Princeton, wired James R. Angell, president of Yale, urging that Yale yield to the suggestion that Caldwell be permitted to play in the final game.

Similar expression on behalf of Princeton's undergraduate body was expected later in the day after a special meeting of the student council.

The faculty committee on athletics took the position that while it regarded the transfer rule as sound, it also felt that Caldwell's case was out of the ordinary and merited special consideration because "of the late date at which the facts have come to light," almost on the eve of the big game.

The faculty committee's statement

The faculty committee's statement follows:

"The Princeton faculty committee on athletics recognizes that under Princeton's agreement with Yale all decisions of the eligibility of Yale athletes properly rest with the Yale committee. We have the most cordial confidence in any decision which the Yale committee may make. We believe in the wisdom and effectiveness of the transfer rule in its present form.

"But we wish to express regret that Bruce Caldwell should be lost to the Yale Team almost upon the eve of the Princeton game. In view of the late date at which the facts have come to light, we wish to say that it it seems late date at which the facts have come to light, we wish to say that it it seems to the Yale committee in any way possible and proper to make an exception of that game and permit him to play against Princeton, such action uld be received with great pleasur

President Hibben wired President Angell of Yale as follows:
"I am distressed to learn of the situation which has arisen concerning Bruce Caldwell. I hope that your athletic committee will yield to the suggestion of the Princeton faculty committee to allow Bruce Caldwell to play in the game on Saturday. We will rejoice as much over such a decision as all of you at New Haven."

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 9 (A.P.) .-New Haven, Conn., Nov. 9 (A.P.).— Bruce Caldwell's empty blue jersey with its emblazoned number 48 hung limply in his deserted locker this afternoon as Yale's fighting men of football set to work to show the world and Prince-ton that theirs is not a one-man team.

At the end of a rough, tough practice session, in which John Garvey fitted into Caldwell's left half back post, the news reached the field house of the generous action of Princeton in urging that Caldwell be used in Saturday's game.

Among the players and close fol-owers of Eli sport, however, there was title hope that Yale's athletic officials on the morrow would reverse their rul-ing of yesterday when Caldwell was read out of Yale football forever for dolating the "transfer rule" in having blayed in two games as a freshman at Brown four years ago.

Caldwell himself was conspicuously besent from his usual haunts. His closest friends said he had left the city emporarily and one report had it he as on his way to his home in Ashton, R. I., to recover in comparative solitude from the shock of his sudden disbarment on the eve of the "big game" in which he was expected to be the shining sent his men through a hard brisk prac-tice session chiefly devoted to finding a man to replace Caldwell as a forward

Versatile Johnny Hoben, heady young quarterback, stood the test nobly. A burst of spontaneous applause swept through the little knot of watchers in the Yale bowl as Hoben tossed a pass of nearly 50 yards, and Scott, left end, pulled it out of the air at full stride.

The huge bowl with its 75,000 seats the huge bowl with its 75,000 seats became a complete sellout today with interest apparently keener than ever since the disqualification of Caldwell. Formal-consideration of Princeton's offer to allow Caldwell to play despite his violation of the rule was scheduled for tomorrow, but falled to shake the general opinion that the star half back definitely is out.

Yale Not Likely to Use Caldwell Despite Plea

New Haven, Conn.; Nov. 9 (A.P.).—In absence of official action on Princeton's offer to allow Bruce Caldwell to play football for Yale against the Tiger Saturday, aithough ineligible, indications tonight were that Princeton's suggestion would be declined with appreciation and that that the ban on Caldwell would stand.

to Say About Case Play in Game. of Caldwell. BULLETIN. By WESTBROOK PEGLER. Ashton, R. I., Nov. 9 (A.P.) .-

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The law, it would seem, is a terrible thing whether enforced to the letter whether enforced to the letter or neglected entirely. Young Bruce Caldwell, the one best football player on the Yale Team, a good student, too, and a poor man among a student body composed largely of bank-roll aristocrats, finds himself disqualified for the Princeton and Harvard games because he played football slightly when he was a freshman at Brown University, four years ago.

The case is of a kind with that of

It young Mr. Caldwell had played a star game throughout his fresh-man season at Brown and the un-fortunate Mr. Palm, of Michigan, had owned a few thousand cases of gin, the law might seem less trivial in either case.

A football player who stars as a meshman at one school and bobs up as a sophomore at another school, is likely to be taken for the true type of carpet-bagger or tramp athlete, and Yale entertained such a one only a few years ago whose nomadic career probably received some consideration when the press transfer rule, now enforced so zealously against Caldwell, was being devised.

as being devised.

But Mr. Palm's flask appears to have been a private flask, implying no in-tent to corrode any interior but his own tent to corrode any interior but his own and Caldwell's football record at Brown, as exhumed from the files of the Providence papers for the autumn of 1923 shows that he played football so slightly and with such modest promise that no Yale alumnus, however, evil, would have offered him inducements to go to Yale for the purposes which the transfer rule was intended to thwart. He was just a freshman who didn't exactly make the freshman team.

The plague of laws in others walks of life is familiar and much discussed and many of the statutes are demmed funny, either because they are too absurd to be enforced or because the very enforcement of them, as in the case of Mr. Palm, is absurd.

But it would seem that in athletics, where chivalry is supposed to be the dominating apirit and the game the only object, a similar condition could be avoided.

Still, there it is.

The National A. A. U. flips over a couple of chapters of athletic law books and finds a forgotten whereas by which Charlie Hoff, a guest athlete from Scandinavia, is suspended thousands of miles from home, and with his expense allowance cut off, is compelled to earn a living doing the thing, he does earn a living doing the thing he doe best, pole vaulting.

Having forced him into professionalism, the A. A. U. then forgives his original offense, which was akin to a violation to the hitching-plug ordinance by a present-day milkman, but bars him forever as a pro.

The tennis association hauls Vincent Richards away from his job, sends him bither and you on lort notice and short rations like a private detective to play in tournaments for clubs that need the gate receipts and after eight years of this, the young man is an outcast and a discredit to the game because he turns square and de-cides to admit that tennis is the basis of his livelihood. The transfer rule of which Caldwell is now a victim, was intended to stabilize the type of athlete who placed a price tag on his talents and traveled about the country, collecting varsity letters and wages and exposing himself t education as he went. In the days of wickedness, some of the star transfer was the control of the control of the star transfer was the control of the control of wickedness, some of the star tran-slents were supposed to have collected enough letters to spell Helsingfors or Schenectady, although this may have been an exaggeration.

But Caldwell transferred only one But Caldwell transferred only once, and it is not apparent that anybody induced him to transfer, and moreover such football as he played at Brown, according to the record, was such undistinguished football that you could hardly say he was a player at all in those days. To convict him as a carpet-bagger on this evidence is like declaring Mr. Mickey McTigue an amatur prize fighter on the ground that he draws too little money at the box office to rank as a genuine pro.

It would have been more in the would have been more in keeping with the popular idea of the spirit of sport and of football, especially if the Yale and Princeton and Harvard people all had talked it over by phone and said, "What the hell—let him play."

Nor will the loss of Caldwell cripple the Yale Team in the Princeton, because while Caldwell was the most spectacular on the Yale side in the Army game, it happens that the Yale line is the greatest strength of the team. and two weeks ago, when Yale was pounding the Dartmouth line about 7 yards from the goal it was Johnny Garvey who went in and carried the touchdown across after Caldwell had failed to find the hole.

Dick Resumes Boxing Atlanta, Ga, Nov. 9 (A.P.).—Jackson P. Dick, jr., age 10, met Gene Tunney on a train southbound from Canada recently and told the champion he was also a boxer but had been forced to retire because a "big old Irish wolfhound" ate up his gloves.

Gene jotted down Jackson's address and told him to look out for a new pair.

letics, was out of town tonight, and his associates hesitated to act without him.

"It's a nice question to decide," Mr. Cates observed. "It's a case in which the spirit of the rule has not been violated either by Caldwell or by Yale. There will be differences of opinion on what course to take.

"Princeton's action is very courteous, very gracious Of course we have expressed to Princeton our appreciation and sense of gratitude for it."

and told him to look out for a new pair.

Today the youngster was preparing to resume "boxing" with a set of autographed gloves he had received from Tunney and he was swamped with would-be opponents who wanted to "try on" the new mitts.

J., courtroom next Tuesday, has been reported that certain individuals who have been served with subpenas it the case are finding the legal papers getting heavier and heavier in their pockets with every passing hour and are making frantic efforts to bring about an out-of-court settlement of the matter at issue.

The board of directors of Madison Square Garden, sometimes known as "The six hundred millionaires," went into a huddle today in their private sanctum to devise ways and means of getting Tex Rickard, their matchmaker and greatest financial asset, out of the matter of the match angle.

That Rickard will be one of the principal witnesses in the case is the solemn promise made by Kearns and the Garden directors feel they can not afford to let Tex be sacrificed on the witness stand to satisfy the deep-rooted grudge of Kearns, who has charged Rickard has been Dempsey's manager in fact ever since the split with Kearns.

It was reported tonight that the sug-testion offered by somebody in high command that Rickard resign until the command that Rickard resign until the thing blows ver is under s ricus consideration and was deliberated for hours by the directors in their meeting. Rickard, so it is said, opposes such a radical move on the ground that if he agreed to resign temporarily some of his enemies within the organization who have been opposed to his regime and have been working under cover to get him out may contrive to make the thing permanent and thus leave him without legal redress.

Rickard has been very much in the position of an interlocutor who has lost control of his end men. But he has a lucrative contract that has many years to run and he doesn't mean to sacrifice it. It is said the Garden directorate is not wholly in accord with Tex's an nouncement that Jack Dempsey has staked himself to $150,000 worth of their preferred stock.

In fact, several of the Garden "higher ups" have gone so far as to deny benpsey did anything of the sort, in the face of the fact that Rickard himself made the thing public

However, the Dempsey-Kearns wrangle is the big show now. If it "goes to but" in Trenton next week, some spicy scandal is assured and the fear of many financially interested in the game is that the disclosures may be of such a section of the beauty of the such as ature as to kill the boxing sport again in New York.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Nov. 9.—The Washington Palace Club went through another strenuous workbut here tonight, facing the Manhattan College outfit in the uptown gymnasium. The Capital team played without Pliot Kennedy, however as the stellar guard had been injured in a previous conflict and had his head in a bandage. Kennedy used six men in the workout against the Collegians. Saunders and Passon playing at forward, Baesman at center, and Rilpey and Chizmadia holding down guard positions. Welss, a rookle, was later sent in at guard and Chizmadia moved up to the pivot post.

Baesman proved the sensation of the drill, his huge height and strength off-setting the fact that he was somewhat crude and raw. If Kennedy can succeed in his object of polishing the glant, Palace may have one of the best centers in the American circuit this winter.

School Game Decided by "Break"

Guyon's Team Rushes Ball Over From 5-Yard Line.

Depro Runs 74 Yards With Pass, But Is Brought Down.

By ARTHUR A. HEYWOOD. James Munro, center, is the hero of Eastern High School today. It was Munro, who capitalized one of the many "breaks" which both Western and Eastern had in turn enjoyed and suffered, when he crashed through the Western line in the third quarter of the game at Central Stadium yesterday and blocked a punt on the 5-vard or the game at Central Stadium yester-day and blocked a punt on the 5-yard line, which enabled Eastern to score the only touchdown of the game and win, 6 to 0 win, 6 to 0.

Montague, a guard, and Millard, a half back, shared the giory with Munro. Montague fell on the bounding oyal on the 5-yard line after Munro had blocked Mitchel.'s kick and after Eastern had hammered at the Western line unsuccessfully, Millar slipped through tackle for a touchdown Eastern made three thrusts at the Western line, which had suddenly taken on the propensities of a stone wall, without gaining more than the length of one's fingers, before Miliar plunged over.

Earlier in the game, after both had battled somewhat evenly throughout most of the first half, the door to the half of fame opened for a brief 20 or 30 seconds to Louis Depro, Eastern half back, and then closed with a resounding thud.

OU LITTLE, Georgetown University football coach and athletic director, will be signally honored by a group of 700 admirers or more from his home town, Leominster, Mass., who preliminary to the Boston College-Georgetown game at Braves Field on Saturday will present their fellow townsman with a gift as a token of their esteem.

Closed with a technique pass on his own 11-yard line, Depro lauached out on what everyone thought would be a still and the town on the goal, but after jogging 74 yards, Garber, of Western, brought him down on the 15-yard line, after what appeared a futile chase, at this point the half ended before Eastern had time to score.

That tells the complete story of the their esteem.

"Lou Little" day is sponsored by the Leominster Chapter of the Elks, to which fraternity the Hilltop coach is a member. The delegation will occupy a special section 'the grand stand on the Georgetown side.

With its fast-charging line functioning effectively, Georgetown should handily defeat Boston College, which has not shown any unusual strength in its games so far. Robert Nork, Coach Little's best bet, has been running wild in the recent scrimmages at the Hilltop, and should the attack get under way at full speed, the fieet-footed half back is expected to increase his scoring mark, which at present is third highest in the East.

to Eastern's 3-yard-line, was western to lil luck.

Three Western men broke through the Eastern line near the end of the second quarter to block Wood's kick and Draper, end for Western, fell on the ball on the 13-yard line. Here Western lost its golden opportunity to score. Brownfield was thrown for a 4-yard loss. Parks made 8 yards through tackle and the ball was back on the 9-yard line. Garber tossed an 8-yard pass to Parks, but with the goal only a yard away. Western was offside on the next play and was penalized. No changes have been made in the varsity line-up and the same eleven, which has started the last three games,

After Brownfield was dumped for another loss, Western resorted to pass, which Depro intercepted as aforementioned, to be brought down after a 74-yard run.

FAVORITES SCORE IN 2 PIMLICO GRADED HANDICAPS

Aucilla Beats Montferrat A Length

Fine Champagne Wins Over Recreation by Neck in Fifth.

Kangaroo Hangs on to Beat Warfain by Nose Over Jumps.

Pidulico Race Track, Nov. 9.—
Of the three graded handicaps at a mile and 70 yards offered here today, the major test was won by C. C. Smithson's Aucilia, when, under the feather of 100 pounds, he led home Montferrat, from Mrs. Margaret Emerson Baker's Sagamore Stable, with J. E. Griffith's Canter. the topweight, finishing third. After the miserable weather the conditions for the sport were almost perfect, though the weather was a bit cool, the track had dried out to some extent, though the footing was still slow, and the improved weather and track conditions resulted in an increased attendance.

This test of the graded handicaps resulted in an excellent contest and Aucilia, the lightest weight of the party, was good enough to force all the pace, under a good ride by Johnny Callahan, and then stick it out to be winner in a drive and a length over Montferrat, which in turn only beat Canter a head. It is altogether probable that the result would have been different had it not been that the winner carried Canter out through the stretch while Montferrat saved ground in the run home. scial to The Washington Post.

The start was a good one and Montferrat and Aucilla at once set out to force the pace. On the first turn Canter was in rather close quarters, but he did not meet with any actual inter-ference. Then into the back stretch he was racing back of Montferrat and Aucila under a slight restraint and galloping strongly.

The leaders, racing close to-gether, held resolutely to the lead until finally Aucilia drew away slightly from the Sagamore colt. By that time Coltiletti had swung Canter from the rail and he was making his run outside.

The son of Wildair was moving in a fashion that suggested victory, but as he drew up on Aucilia, Callahan went out wider than was necessary and as a result Canter was forced to go wider still, though there was an abundance of room on the inside. All the way home Aucilia continued to bear out and, while there was no actual interference, it carried Canter exceedingly wide. This enabled Montferrat, saving ground on the rail, to beat Canter a head for the place.

The M. F. H. steeplechase, which, deciphered, is meant for Master of Fox

Archibald's Mantonian was an easy third over Vccalion, whom he beat five

Two others finished the course, but they cut very little figure in deciding the issue. Complaisance and Manifold came to grief during the early running, the former boiling into the wing at the third fence, while Manifold unseated A Kelly at the second fence and it was a miracle that Kelly was not killed in the scramble to get away from flying hoofs.

lenged repeatedly during the final quarter mile.

Platers of the cheaper grade made up the contest for the mile and one-half of the fourth number on the card and Scat, racing for Edward Arlington was the one to account for the big end of the prize when he went into the lead at once for the gruelling test and had but little contention while making the pace for the first half of the journey.

He was held together for the final test and he encountered little difficulty in holding his lead to the end to score by a length and one-half over the B. B Stable's Fair Class with Tomahawk 4th leading the others to the finish Mapee and Cloth Hall, the favored pair, falled to break into the money division. The latter's showing was due to the fact that he went lame just when he began to make his effort.

Fal De Saint Phalle's good dis-

Fal De Saint Phalle's good distance runner, Fine Champagne, added another set of brackets to her perfect score of late to run her string of victories to four straight when she led a smart lot over the mile and seventy yards of the Pimlico graded handleap (Class B).

At the end of the journey she had but a scant margin over Jefferson Livingston's Recreation who accounted for the place portion of the purse by a like margin over Polycrates that performed for Marshall Field. Clear Sky raced into fourth place and was beaten about a half length for the entire purse. This marked the second victory of Fine Champagne at the current session and incidentally the second favorite of the day to earn brackets.

Backrope, a 13-to-1 shot, was the winner of the seventh race today under a perfect ride by Jockey Chick Lang in a mile and 70 yards of the Class C. graded handicap. Commissioner Hannon, the odds-on favorite, was beaten out by a length and a half with Leger, the second choice, four lengths farther back.

Sande, Resigned to Ban, To Ask License in Spring

BALTIMORE, Nov. 9 (A.P.).—Earl Sande, deposed jockey; will take his medicine and apply for reinstatement to the turf next spring. Sande, who yesterday heard the Maryland Racing Commission refuse to rescind the order which banned him from the turf indefinitely for a foul at Pimlico last Friday, made that statement in an interview today at about the same time the Baltimore News received a telegram from the Havana, Cuba, announcing that he would not be permitted to ride there.

The action of the Maryland commission in depriving America's foremost jockey of his license automatically barred him from all the recognized race tracks of North America.

When they ban a fellow there, they han him. They won't even let me watch a race as a spectator," he said.

Aucilla Beats Montferrat A Length

Fine Champagne Wins Over Recreation by Neck in Fifth.

Kangaroo Hangs on to Beat Warfain by Nose Over Jumps.

District of the Washington Post.

Publico RACE TRACK. Nov. 9.—
Of the three graded handicaps at a mile and 70 yards offered here today, the major test was won by C. C. Smithson's Aucilla, when, under the feather of 100 pounds, he led home Montferrat, from Mrs. Margaret Emerson Baker's Sagamore Stable, with J. E. Griffith's Canter, the topweight, finishing third. After the miserable weather the conditions for the sport were almost perfect, though the weather was a bit cool, the track had dried out to some extent, though the footing was still slow, and the improved weather and track conditions resulted in an increased attendance.

This test of the graded handicaps resulted in an excellent contest and Aucilla, the lightest weight of the party, was good enough to force all the page, under a good ride by Johnny Callahan, and then stick it out to be winner in a drive and a length over Montferrat, which in turn only beat Canter a head. It is altogether probable that the result would have been different had it not been that the winner carried Canter out through the stretch while Montferrat saved ground in the run home.

atretch while Montferrat saved ground in the run home.

The start was a good one and Montferrat and Aucilia at once set out to force the pace. On the first turn Canter was in rather close quarters, but he did not meet with any actual interference. Then into the back stretch he was racing back of Montferrat and Aucilia under a slight restraint and galloping strongly.

The leaders, racing close to-gether, held resolutely to the lead until finally Aucilia drew away slightly from the Sagamore colt. By that time Coltiletti had swung Canter from the rail and he was making his run outside.

The son of Wildair was moving in a The son of Wildair was moving in a fashion that suggested victory, but as he drew up on Aucilia, Callahan went out wider than was necessary and as a result Canter was forced to go wider still, though there was an abundance of room on the inside. All the way home Aucilia continued to bear out and, while there was no actual interference, it carried Canter exceedingly wide. This enabled Montferrat, saving ground on the rail, to beat Canter a head for the place.

H. steeplechase, which, deciphered, is meant for Master of Fox Hounds, was the first offering of the day and eight fencers of good ability paraded to test their merits over the 2-mile course and over 13 fences. Kangaroo, racing for Mrs. E. Trueman, was the one to earn the major portion of the purse when under a severe drive of the purse when under a severe drive he was awarded a nose decision over the Lattingdown stable's Warfain, while just a length back of the pair H. Two others finished the course, but they cut very little figure in deciding the issue. Complaisance and Mamfold came to grief during the early running, the former bolting into the wing at the third fence, while Mamifold unseated A Kelly at the second fence and it was a miracle that Kelly was not killed in the scramble to get away from flying hoofs.

J. S. Cosden's colors were successfully borne to victory for the first time at this meeting when Snobbish took the measure of ten other youngsters that contested the six furiong sprint that was offered as the second number and for which she was installed the choice.

which she was installed the choice.

Second to the winner and beaten a head came Miss Maryland, a neglected factor, while third portion of the money awards went to Not Guilty. Dolly Vedder showed the way for a brief period and gave way to the winner before the turn was reached. Hebert rode a very patient race and at no time was he asked to send Snobbish along at her best clip, although Miss Maryland challenged repeatedly during the final quarter mile.

Platers of the cheaper grade made up the contest for the mile and one-half of the fourth number on the card and Scat, racing for Edward Arlington was the one to account for the big end of the prize when he went into the lead at once for the gruelling test and had but little contention while making the pace for the first half of the journey.

He was held together for the final test and he encountered little difficulty in holding his lead to the end to score by a length and one-half over the B. At the end of the journey she had but a scant margin over Jefferson Livingston's Recreation who accounted for the place portion of the purse by a like margin over Polycrates that performed for Marshall Field. This marked the second victory of Fine Champagne at the current session and incidentally the second favorite of the day to earn brackets.

Baltimore, Nov. 9 (AP.).—Early Sande, deposed jockey, will take his medicine and apply for reinstatement to the turf next spring Sande, who yesterday heard the Maryland Bacing Commission refuse to reside the order which banned him from the turf indefinitely for a foul at Findico last Friday, made that statement in an interview today at about the same time the Baltimore News received a telegram from the Havana-American Jockey Club at Havana, Cuba, announcing that he would not be permitted to ride there.

ACTION PROMISED SUNDAY IN CAPITAL CITY GAME

Six Contests Listed for Decision

Northerns Must Win to Hold Lead in 150-Lb. Class.

Hawk Preps Have the Edge in Race for 135-Pound Title.

A CTION with a capital A is on the Sunday program for Capital City League teams. In the 150-pound division, the Northerns will play the Seat Pleass. Firemen on the Maryland Park Field, the Wintons will mix with the St. Stephen's at Fair-lawn, and the Mardfeldts and Southern Preps will come together on the Mount Rainier Field. All games start at 3 o'clock.

Rainter Field. All games start at 3 o'clock.

The 135-pound division offers some classy games, with the Mohawk Preps and Marions meeting on Fairlawn at 3 o'clock, the Mercurys and Friendships on the same field at 1 o'clock, and the Linworths and National Preps on the Tidal Basin diamond at 3 o'clock.

Interest has now developed to the highest point especially in the "elder division," and, as conditions now stand, everything hinges on the result of games from now on. The Northerns' slim hold on first place will be endangered by the Seat Pleasant Eleven, who, with the Southern Preps, now figure as menaces in the fight for honors. A win for the Firemen would give them the lead temporarily and would create plenty of confusion among the other teams.

On the other hand, if victory on the other hand, if victory smiles on the Northerns, the only team in their path for the title would be the Southern Preps, recent upsetters of the Wintons. Therefore it seems that, although the Northerns hold the lead at present, their margin is too slim to safely say that they are "in" which all goes toward the supplying of color for Sunday's game between the Northwesters and Firemen.

The Wintons expect to come back in their game with St. Stephens. Strenuous drills are going forward daily to prime them for battle, and such a formidable team as this one should make amends for their disastrous showing of lest Sunder.

make amends for their disastrous showing of last Sunday.

In the 135-pound class the Mohawk Preps seem to be making a regular runaway race of it, with four straight wins. They feel confident of making it five straight against the lowly Marions and, if the dope runs true, should find little trouble in doing so. The Friendships, another eleven with a clean slate, and also on the heels of the Mohawks, will engage a formidable foe in the Mercury Preps.

Totals. . 358 847 843

Totals.. 431 468 446

In order to keep close to the Mohawks the Friendships will have to win this Sunday's game. Fourth place will be at stake when the Linworths and National Preps meet. Both teams have played good football to date but have been victims of breaks that have come just at the time to check advancing ideas.

The referees for these battles are as follows: Northern-Seat Pleasants, Harmon; Southern Preps-Mardfeldts, O. Mitchell; Wintons-St. Stephens, J. Mit-Friendships-Mercurys, Hart: Linworths-National Preps, Dugan.

RAILROAD BONDS AGAIN LEAD MARKET UPWARD

Outlook for New U. S. Treasury Financing Helps to Broaden Trading.

FRENCH ISSUES STRONG

New York, Nov. 9 (A.P.) .- Broadening activity and firm prices in the bond market today was attributed largely to the favorable view in financial circles of the new Treasury financing. Most of the Government issues improved fractionally, and several high grade railroad and industrial issues gave good accounts of themselves.

Buyers again favored the railroad division, bidding up to new high prices a few such issues as Mobile & Ohio 4½s. Southern Railway 5s. Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis 5s. and Northern Pacific 5s. Several other outstanding issues sold well at or just under their previous peaks, including Erie 5s. Great Northern 4½s. Chesapeake & Ohio 4s and General Pacific 5s. Accumulation in the railway group was construed as testimony to a general confidence in the soundness of the current market. Some buying doubtless was in anticipation of interest and dividend disbursments due on November 15.

Industrials and public utilities, while less active than the rails, displayed firm tendencies, Western Electric 5s and Pure Oil 5½s soid at their best prices of the year, and several others registered fractional improvement.

French issues continued to reflect the plans to refund the Republic's 8 per cent bonds at a large annual saving in interest. The Governmental 7s led the way with a quarter-point gain to 116½, the highest figure of the year. German bonds continued to sag and there was some selling of Italian obligations.

Frompt oversubscription of the $5.300,000 Mortage Bank of Denmark 5s, and announcement that $20,000,000 Morth German Lloyd 6s will be offered tomorrow were the principal faatures outside the listed market. Buyers again favored the railroad di-

FRENCH ISSUES STRONG

New York, Nov. 9 (A.P.) .- Broadening activity and firm prices in the bond market today was attributed largely to the favorable view in financial circles of the new Treasury financing. Most of the Government issues improved fractionally, and several high grade railroad and industrial issues gave good accounts of themselves.

Buyers again favored the railroad di-

Buyers again favored the railroad division, bidding up to new high prices a few such issues as Mobile & Ohio 4½s, Southern Railway 5s, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis 5s, and Northern Pacific 5s. Several other outstanding issues sold well at or just under their previous peaks, including Erie 5s, Great Northern 4½s, Chesapeaks & Ohio 4s and General Pacific 5s. Accumulation in the railway group was construed as testimony to a general confidence in the soundings of the current market. Some buying doubtless was in anticipation of interest and dividend disbursments due on November 15.

ber 15.

Industrials and public utilities, while less active than the rails, displayed firm tendencies, Western Electric 5s and Pure Oil 5½s sold at their best prices of the year, and several others registered fractional improvement.

French issues continued to reflect the plans to refund the Republic's 8 per cent bonds at a large annual saving in interest. The Governmental 7s led the way with a quarter-point gain to 116¼, the highest figure of the year. German bonds continued to sag and there was some selling of Italian obligations.

Prompt oversubscription of the Igations.

Prompt oversubscription of the $5,300,000 Mortgage Bank of Denmark 5s, and announcement that $20,000,000 North German Lloyd 6s will be offered tomorrow were the principal features outside the listed market.

CURB MARKET REVIEW.

New York, Nov. 9 (A.P.).—Prices of curb stocks today falled to show uniformity, bool operators selecting new favorites when profit taking developed, in a number of recently popular shares. Oils, as a graup, became irregular, following several days of rising prices, but most brice changes were nominal. Vacuum Oil and Penn-Mex Puel were exceptions, the former rising about 3 points and the latter losing 2%.

A number of active specialties moved into new high ground, including beere & Co., Bohn Aluminum & Brass, Great Lakes Dredge & Dock, Newmont Mining and U. S. L. Battery.

Announcement of a large middle Western biscuit merger with United Biscuit as a nucleus was followed by a drop of a point or so in both the A and B stocks of the United. Celanese issues fell off on profit taking, which also was instrumental in bringing recessions in Johns Manville, Syncuse Washing Machine B. U. S. Gypsum, Standard commercial Tobacco, and several others.

Fublic utilities were mixed in tone, New England Telephone advancing nearly 3 points, while Electric Bond & Company of the previous peaks total was 554, established on October 4.

SEPARATE DETACHED AND SEMIDETACHED

Favorable Action by Zone Board Follows Efforts of Year.

AMENDMENT ADOPTED WITHOUT OPPOSITION

New Ruling Prohibits Erection or Alterations for Apartment Houses.

arate restricted residential areas for detached and semidetached houses were created by the zoning commissi terday following efforts of more than

An amendment to the zoning regula-

An amendment to the zoning regulations was adopted without opposition. The amendment was the third proposal by the commission to achieve the desired change. The two preceding attempts were fought bitterly by citizens' associations, but these bodies favored yesterday's measure.

Under the new rule there is created a residential A semirestricted zone described officially as follows:

"In the A semirestricted area the minimum dimensions of yards and courts and the maximum percentage of lot occupancy shall be the same as for A area district, except that hereafter no building shall be erected or altered for use as an apartment house, flat, hotel or community house, nor shall any building or premise be used for these purposes."

Former Attempts Explained.

Former Attempts Explained.

The residential A restricted area, for detached homes only, is left undisturbed. All property now zoned A restricted was left so zoned, the burden of having it changed to semirestricted being placed on owners who want to erect semidetached houses thereon.

In former attempts to create the new zone, the commission proposed to change the restricted zone to permit semidetached houses and create a new AA restricted area for detached houses. Under that kind of amendment the burden would have been on owners of detached houses to have their neighborhoods rezoned to keep semidetached houses out. That is why the former amendments were opposed by citizens and the new one, adopted yesterday, was unopposed.

At the next hearing, to be held De-ras unoposed.

At the next hearing, to be held Desember 7 at 10 a. m., it is predicted that there will be a flood of applications for changes from A restricted to A semirestricted. Large real estate and building concerns interested in semi-detached development are expected to present many petitions. The hearing may last more than one day.

Connecticut Avenue Changes.

The commission yesterday, following its public hearing, changed the rear of seven lots owned by Harry Wardman in Connecticut avenue south of L street northwest from 90-foot to 110-foot height restriction. It is commercial property.

The rear of property at the northeast corner of Thirteenth street and Rhode Island avenue northeast was changed from residential A area restricted to 40-foot buildings, to residential B with 60-foot height limitation.

Ilmitation.

A petition was received by the commission from Emergency Hospital asking that the height limit be changed from 90 to 110 feet on a lot adjoining the hospital on the east, now occupied by the Cox Building. It is proposed to erect an addition to the hospital on that site. The commission set it for public hearing December 7.

day went on record for adoption of such a measure, in an effort to cut down the increasing robberies and felonies in the District.

Legislation to this effect was advocated several weeks ago by the committee on public order of the Board of Trade, but final action was deferred until after the convention of the crime commission, which closed last week.

The board also went on record urging that local printers as far as possible be patronized. It was pointed out that the printing business is one of Washington's largest industries, employing more than 2,000 people with a pay roll of approximately $2,500,000, and much business given outside of Washington could be competently handled here, and add greatly to money in circulation.

Final plans for giving wide circulation to the "mall early,—shop early" campaign, which is to be started this year on the 20th of this month, were announced. These include attractive metal posters to be placed in show windows and other prominent places.

The association will advocate that employers who are accustomed to donating Christmas bonuses to employes do so this year a week ahead of the usual time. The opinion was expressed that many recipients of these gifts could find a use for them before Christmas, as well as afterwards.

With the departure from Washington last night of Mrs. Ellen G. Ramsey for Canandaigua, N. Y., the local search for her daughter, Mrs. Anne Ramsey Forbush, was brought to an end. Mrs. Forbush disappeared in this city three weeks ago last night.

It now is believed that Mrs. Forbush is in the vicinity of Claremont, N. H., and her husband, the Rev. Dascomb Forbush, is leading the search for her there. A woman resembling Mrs. Forbush was seen in the woods in that region by hunters and, according to dispatches from Claremont, Mr. Forbush is of the belief the woman was his wife.

Tait Says That He Plans No Housecleaning Following Powell's Arrest.

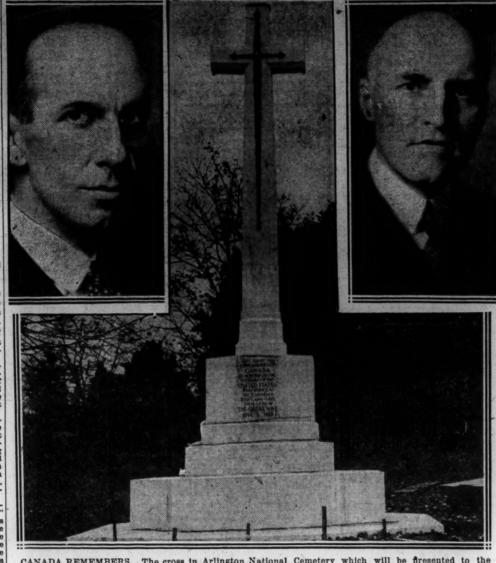

Powell's Arrest.

No further dismissals of employes in the Washington office of the collector of internal revenue are contemplated, Collector Galen L. Tait said yesterday. In the statement he issued Tuesday following the arrest of H. Clay Powell, former director of the local office. Tait declared that he was conducting a "housecleaning." This gave rise to reports that other employes might be dismissed Tait explained yesterday that he had not intended his statement to be so construed.

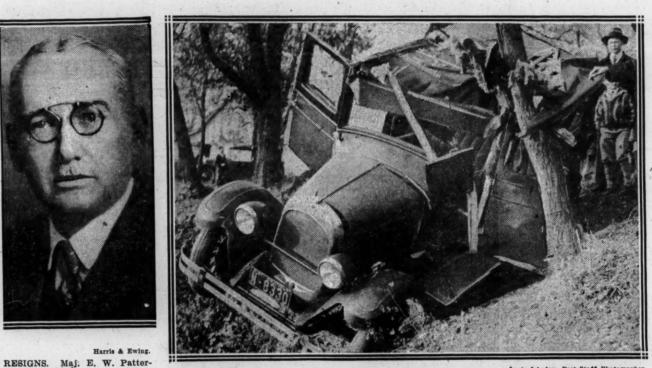

Following his arrest Tuesday on a charge of embezzling $2,500 from the Government, Powell said he would have one of his friends issue a statement explaining his side of the case. Thus far, however, no statement has been forthcoming. Powell was arrested while he was at the George Washington University Hospital convalescing from an operation for appendicitis.

Development of station WMAL of Washington into one of the foremost radio stations of the country was promised yesterday by Martin A. Leese, president of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, and owner of WMAL, at a hearing before the Federal Radio Commission. He said the promise is contingent only upon the radio commission granting an assignment of sufficient power and suitable wavelength. Leese declared the new assignment of 1,240 kilocycles and 250 watts, effective for station WMAL since November 1, has brought forth many complaints in regard to the efficiency of that station's service. If given encouragement, however, by the commission to run and operate and assigned 500 watts and a suitable wavelength. Mr. Leese said, he would erect in an acceptable locality a new plant for WMAL. The station is now able to give a service comparable to the best in the country, he said, and if granted power it can arrange the very best hook-ups. Brig. Gen. Anton Stephan, commander of the District of Columbia National Guard, and president of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, told the commission that Washington needs another high-power station, as most of WRC's programs feature out-of-town broadcasting to the exclusion of local interest features. WRC alone is not able to take care of the city's need, he said.

"WMAL is the only station in Wesh." All officers of the association are taking an active part in the financial campaign. They are: Hugh A. Thrift, president; Coleman Jennings, first vice president; Dr. Arthur C. Christie, second vice president; W. H. Kerr, recording secretary; John Poole, treasurer; George W. Offutt, assistant treasurer; John B. Larner, general counsel, and these directors: Col. P. M. Anderson, C. A. Aspinwall, Z. D. Blackistone, Harry Blake, M. O. Chance, Wilson Compton, W. S. Corby, Dr. E. M. Ellison, W. M. Guthrie, W. C. Hanson, Clarence L. Harding, William H. Hill, C. T. Kingsbury, George A. Lewis, William Montgomery, H. L. Rust, Jr., Dr. George Otis Smith and Huston Thompson.

The board of trustees is composed of W. A. H. Church, James Sharp, Dr. Smith and Messrs. Corby, Aspinwall, Larner and Letts. The advisory board includes Charles J. Bell, E. H. DeGroot, T., W. W. Everett, J. H. Hanna, T. P. Hickman, Charles P. Light, Judge Stanton J. Peelle, Dr. William J. Showalter, W. H. H. Smith, L. A. Snead and Mr. Letts.

REELECTED. Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth, upper, and Sheriff Howard B. Fields, reelected in Arlington

County, Va.

"WMAL is the only station in Washington for broadcasting events of local interest," Edward C. Graham, of the National Electrical Supply Co. and president of the Washington Board of Trade, to the commission, in uring authority for the operation of WMAL on higher frequency and power. Graham said he has had personal experience in trying to obtain the use of station WRC for matters of local interest, but because of out of town hook-ups, WRC had not been able to accommodate. He gave credit to WMAL for putting the City Club Forum "on the map."
"WMAL is of the greatest help in building up the civic spirit of Washington, Dorsey W. Hyde, jr., secretary of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, declared before the commission. He gave it as his opinion that the Washington Chamber of Commerce is solidly behind WMAL as an outlet for local broadcasting, and he believes it should be granted higher frequency. It was brought out that a low frequency station is not available to the majority of radio listeness.

Station Wants Entire Time.

The hearing before the Federal Radio Commission was held as a result of the application of station WIBS, of Elizabeth, N. J., for the assignment to it of the wave length of 1,470 kilocycles, now assigned to WNJ, of Newark, N. J. The M. A. Leese Co., operator of station WMAL subsequently filed application for the same assignment.

Counsel for WIBS charged that station WNJ has not made the best use of the frequency assigned to it and has not rendered public service to justify the assignment.

Milton R. Baker, manager of station WMAL, told the commission that his station believed it should not be made to divide its time with any other station, and that it could not share a frequency assignment with either of the New Jersey stations without interference in reception.

Concluding the hearings late last night, the commission anounced it would take the testimony under advisement and probably be prepared to announce a decision on the assignment in a month. Store Manager. While police are admittedly baffled their search for the slayer of Charles
